

THE GUARDIAN MINDSET

De-Escalation & Tactical Decision-Making

ShadowBox is a useful tool to give students experience in policing situations, while also giving them time to consider appropriate actions and gain insight from the experience of others. ShadowBox allows "training repetitions" so that when a situation is encountered in real life, the student has already been exposed to options, possible outcomes, and choices that can enhance the safety of everyone involved.

Michael Regan, Major-Director of Training, New York State Police, Retired.

This course offers a highly efficient methodology to enhance and accelerate skills in de-escalation, trust building and decision making required for 21st century policing.

Cliff Nannini, Captain of Police, Ret., Senior Police Consultant, DOJ

An innovative, experiential 24-hour course designed to improve the de-escalation and decision-making skills of police officers within the framework of the Guardian mindset in situations characterized by ambiguity, uncertainty, unpredictability, changeability, time-pressure, competing or changing goals, and potential danger. This course provides updated legislative content of Penal Code Section 835a.
